By Remy L. Sison, De la Merced and Hans J. Sison
PHILIPPINE DAILY INQUIRER

MANILA (PDI) — The National People's Army (NPA) has declared a ceasefire in the Mt. Bulusan area, a move that has been welcomed by the local government and the community.

The NPA's 10th Division, which is based in the area, has announced that it will no longer engage in armed conflict with the government forces in the region.

The ceasefire is expected to bring about a more peaceful and stable environment in the area, which has been plagued by conflict for years.

Malacanang governor claims Palpuran's 2006-2007 army

By R. Zamora, Teresa Ordoña and Cheryll D. Amador

MANILA (PDI) — Malacanang Governor Nene Duterte has claimed that the Philippine Army's 2006-2007 army was the result of a military operation that was conducted by the government forces in the region.

The governor's claim is based on a report that was released by the government, which stated that the army was the result of a military operation that was conducted by the government forces in the region.

The report also stated that the army was the result of a military operation that was conducted by the government forces in the region.

WE DON'T NEED THE PROPOSED CHARTER CHANGE.

We don't need a Constitution that would:

- Take away our right to vote directly for the President
- Create a powerful Interior Parliament composed of incumbent politicians that would decide whether the 2007 elections will be held or not
- Create a super-President with additional Prime Minister powers
- Open the door for those in power to stay in indefinitely
- Weaken the Supreme Court as a check against martial law abuse of power and violation of human rights

These proposals take away power from the people and hand it over to those who already have too much of it.

Constitutional reforms are best done through a more transparent Constitutional Convention after the 2007 elections, where any changes will not benefit those in power today.

WE NEED REAL CHANGE.

We need a strong social reform program now.

This program requires a slimmer lean and viable system in safety nets for the poor, especially in the areas of education, food security, health and housing; strict implementation of agrarian reform and environmental laws; a serious and sustained fight against graft and corruption; and increased transparency in Congress and local government for marginalised sectors.

We need electoral reforms now.

A trustworthy electoral system is a fundamental building block of a democracy. A credible 2007 election can serve as an indirect referendum on the work of the present administration, so we can move on.

Let us unite around democratic process and urgent reforms.

Should merit any rationale in using repressive tactics, as being useful, as in using democracy

Cagayan flood control plan gets P100M

MANILA, May 10 — A flood control plan for Cagayan City, Ilocos Norte, has been approved by the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) with a total cost of P100 million. The plan, which was submitted by the Cagayan City Water District (CCWD), includes the construction of a 1.5-kilometer-long dike, the widening of existing dikes, and the construction of a flood control gate. The DPWH Secretary, Jose A. Alvarado, said that the plan is a "major step" in the flood control program for Cagayan City. He added that the DPWH is committed to providing flood control facilities for the city and its residents. The plan is expected to be completed by the end of 1993. The CCWD is currently conducting studies for the construction of a flood control gate and a dike. The DPWH is also conducting studies for the widening of existing dikes. The total cost of the plan is P100 million, which will be shared by the DPWH and the CCWD. The DPWH will provide P60 million, while the CCWD will provide P40 million. Study notes fertilizer overuse in Ilocos farms

MANILA, May 10 — A study conducted by the Department of Agriculture (DA) has found that farmers in Ilocos Norte are using too much fertilizer. The study, which was conducted by the Ilocos Norte Agricultural Experiment Station (INAES), found that farmers are using an average of 150 kilograms of fertilizer per hectare, which is much higher than the recommended amount of 100 kilograms. The study also found that farmers are using a lot of urea, which is a type of fertilizer that is easy to use but also easy to overuse. The DA is now working with farmers to reduce their fertilizer use. It is providing them with information on the correct amount of fertilizer to use and is also providing them with training on how to use fertilizer correctly. The DA is also providing them with information on the benefits of using less fertilizer, such as lower costs and better crop yields. The study is a "major step" in the DA's program to reduce fertilizer use in Ilocos Norte. It is expected to provide farmers with the information they need to use fertilizer correctly and to reduce their costs. The DA is committed to providing farmers with the information and training they need to use fertilizer correctly. The study is expected to be completed by the end of 1992. The INAES is currently conducting studies on the correct amount of fertilizer to use and on the benefits of using less fertilizer. The DA is also conducting studies on the benefits of using less fertilizer. The total cost of the study is P100,000, which was provided by the DA. Forests get new hope in tree cloning project

By Richard Cohen
The Washington Post Staff Writer
The U.S. Forest Service is launching a project to clone trees from old-growth forests, hoping to restore the genetic diversity of the nation's forests. The project, which is part of a larger effort to restore old-growth forests, will involve cloning trees from old-growth forests and planting them in new forests. The project is being led by the U.S. Forest Service, which is part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Mine site landslide kills 5

At least five people were killed and several others injured when a massive landslide occurred at a coal mine in China. The landslide occurred on Monday, January 10, 2000, at the Xuefeng Coal Mine in the province of Henan. The landslide was caused by a combination of factors, including heavy rain and poor maintenance of the mine's infrastructure. The Chinese government has launched an investigation into the cause of the landslide and is working to identify the victims.

The landslide occurred at the Xuefeng Coal Mine, which is one of the largest coal mines in China. The mine has a long history of production and has been a major source of coal for the country. The landslide was a major disaster and has caused significant damage to the mine's infrastructure.

The Chinese government has launched an investigation into the cause of the landslide and is working to identify the victims. The investigation is ongoing and is expected to take several weeks to complete. The government is also working to provide assistance to the families of the victims.

WHAT'S ON

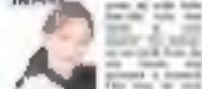

Melts-in-your-mouth bean curd

There are many ways to eat bean curd, but this one is the most delicious. It is a Thai-style salad that is easy to make and tastes great.

Ingredients: 1/2 cup bean curd, 1/2 cup shredded carrots, 1/2 cup green onions, 1/2 cup dressing.

Instructions: 1. Wash the bean curd and drain it. 2. Shred the carrots and green onions. 3. Mix the bean curd, carrots, and green onions with the dressing.

Notes: This recipe is for 2 servings. You can adjust the quantities to suit your needs.

Melts-in-your-mouth bean curd

By M Lee of the Chinese Press

When you bite into a piece of bean curd, you should feel like you are eating a piece of soft, white, melting butter. This is the texture of the bean curd, which is made from soybeans. The texture is soft and spongy, and it melts in your mouth. This is why it is called 'melts-in-your-mouth' bean curd.

The bean curd is made from soybeans, which are a good source of protein. It is also low in fat and calories, making it a healthy choice. The texture is soft and spongy, and it melts in your mouth.

Ice, ice numbers

There's only one difference between the two: one is hot and the other is cold. This is the difference between the two types of ice cream.

The first type of ice cream is made from milk and sugar. It is soft and creamy, and it melts in your mouth. The second type of ice cream is made from milk and sugar, but it is frozen solid. It is hard and crunchy, and it melts in your mouth.
